Coll Likes 2 Municipal Courts—Or Extra Judicial Court

If the Walnut Creek and Concord Municipal Courts are consolidated at a Pleasant Hill site, as suggested by California Chief Justic Phil Gibson, then a judicial court should be located in Lafayette or Orinda.

This was County Supervisor Tom Coll's opinion, voiced Tuesday night during an informal get-together of supervisors and Walnut Creek councilmen at the Walnut Bowl.

However, Coll said he actually favors retention of the Concord "Muni" Court in Concord, and the Walnut Creek court in Walnut Creek, perhaps in the city's future "civic center."

COLL SAID he had given some favorable thought to the location of a consolidated court in Pleasant Hill while annexation to Walnut Creek was being considered, but more recently he has felt it is "unfair" to Lafayette and Orinda people to have to travel the distance for justice court services.

He said that the Gibson plan in a practical sense could not be put into effect until some of the objecting court judges in the county retire.

He added that he has heard people say Contra Costa County has the worst court system in California, and County Administrator J. P. McBrien added this has been said in relation to the number of separate judicial districts.

Coll also said he has talked with Walnut Creek City Manager Laverne Kimball about possible locations in the city of a new municipal court building, since the lease on the present building on Locust Street will expire in December.

COLL POINTED to the sufficiency of the Concord court, saying it may not be everything on the outside, but is is roomy inside and is a "real fine facility."

The Walnut Creek councilmen agreed heartily with the possibility of locating the new court building in the city's future civic center.

Councilman Robert Nelson said it would be fine if Coll, McBrien and Mayor Frank Marshall get together and "keep the city court thing going."

Coll's comments, coming at the end of a dinner meeting mainly devoted to zoning on the city's edges, were prompted by the Gibson letter, concerning which McBrien will make recommendations soon.

THE GIBSON letter called for construction of a new county building in Pleasant Hill, on Park Boulevard, adjacent to the new library building.

Gibson said the court would include the Clayton and Danville Districts, and it would save some $15,000 each year.

The consolidated court would have two judges, each running a department. Gibson said there would be no need for a branch court elsewhere in the area served.

Gibson also said there is no adequate existing physical facility to house a municipal court in the proposed judicial district.

Association Rezoning Suggestions Told

Orinda Teacher Participates in 'Inquiry' Training

Warren C. Coffey, Orinda Union School District science consultant, was among 12 teachers who participated in a summer training institute at the University of Illinois.

Participants, selected on a nation-wide basis, were members of the Illinois Studies in Inquiry Training—a research project supported by the university and the U.S. Office of Education, designed to find ways of developing in children the ability to formulate questions which lead to understanding of observed physical phenomena.

THE TRAINING session was conducted by Professor J. Richard Suchman of the College of Education.

The teachers agreed to continue practicing the technique with their own pupils in 30 weekly sessions during the coming year.

The program makes use of silent color films produced by Professor Suchman showing behavior of various objects under certain conditions and illustrating familiar physical phenomenon. After viewing the motion picture, children and teacher begin a "guessing game." Only questions which the teacher can answer by "Yes" or "No" or "That depends" are permitted.

THE CHILDREN learn to discard questions which do not advance them toward a solution. In an experimental demonstration class conducted in connection with the summer institute, sixth grade children learned to identify objects, properties, conditions and events observed in the films, and with the teacher's guidance, to formulate a reasonable hypothesis as to cause and effect.

The teachers will use Professor Suchman's films and tape record student discussion. The recordings will be studied at Illinois in further development of the technique.

Coffey was one of 12 participants selected on a nationwide basis to undertake special training this summer in developing a scientific approach to problems in elementary school children. Opponents of Olympic Boulevard Transit Routing Told to 'Speak Up'

An official of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District has told Lou Repetto, president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, that unless there is sufficient opposition expressed immediately, the district's route will be along Olympic Boulevard.

Harry Morrison, Jr., a Contra Costa County director of the district, was scheduled to appear before the meeting of the Lafayette Chamber directors Wednesday, but was unable to attend.

REPETTO reported to the group that Morrison informed him that because the county board of supervisors must act on the suggested transit routings within 90 days, all interested civic groups must act immediately to oppose the routing.

Directors of the transit district voted last week to approve the routing of the planned commuters' network along the proposed Olympic Boulevard between Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

The Olympic Boulevard routing, along the old Sacramento Northern right-of-way, would save the five-county district an estimated $3 million, according to the district engineers and directors.

CHAMBER officials and homeowners groups in Lafayette have opposed this routing, contending that all transportation routes in the central county should stay as close to the freeway as possible.

Repetto said the proposed routing through Lafayette and along the residential Olympic Boulevard area would create another blight in the community.

The chamber president announced that the group is planning a protest group to travel to Martinez en masse to appear before the supervisors when the matter comes up for public hearing.

CHAMBER directors also asked Hugh Kenneth Forsman to ask for an opinion concerning the routing from the Diablo Highway Federation.

Forsman had earlier reported that the federation had not taken a public stand on the transit proposal.

Meanwhile, the transit district has scheduled a bus tour of all East Bay routings for 9 a.m. Monday. The tour, which will leave from the Concord City Hall, will include the supervisors and other Contra Costa officials.

The group will have a look at the proposed routes and then will lunch at Jack London Square, Oakland.

Fire Sweeps 50 Acres in Briones

A brush fire swept 50 acres four miles northeast of Orinda last Thursday. Forty men from the Orinda and Lafayette fire districts, the State Division of Forestry and Briones Ranch battled the fire for two hours.

The property is owned by the East Bay Municipal Utility District, and is located off Bear Creek Road near the Hampton Boy Scout Camp.

Civic Celebration for Olympians Being Planned

Plans are being formulated for an area-wide civic celebration honoring the central county's three representatives on the United States Olympic swimming team, now in Rome for the Summer Olympic Games.

The event, which will include a testimonial dinner open to the public, will be sponsored by the Orinda and Lafayette chambers of commerce and The Sun. Present plans call for the celebration to be held in mid-September.

THE THREE local Olympians are Donna deVarona of Lafayette and Carolyn Schuler and George Harrison of Orinda. They will participate in the Games beginning Thursday and will return home about September 11.

Clarence Betz, secretary of the Orinda chamber, first thought of the idea of a gala central county "Welcome Home" for the young champions. He said, "They have brought credit to the area and deserve our appreciation."

Betz contacted President Bob Partridge of the Orinda group and Chuck Johnston, secretary of the Lafayette chamber, and received their support in the project.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Lafayette chamber Wednesday, President Lou Repetto appointed a committee to work with the Orinda chamber and The Sun in planning the event.

JACK HAGEMAN will chairman the committee and Repetto and Johnston are its other embers.

The Orinda directors are scheduled to meet to appoint a committee within the next few days, Betz said.

According to present plans, the dinner will be held at some restaurant between the two communities and tickets will be available in Lafayette and Orinda.

Prices Cut As Spreading Gas War Hits Locally

Commuters who lost their gay smiles at the close of last spring's gas price war, were beaming again this week as prices of gasoline dropped from one to three cents in many Contra Costa communities.

Rumors of a price upswing in Oakland and Walnut Creek appeared to be unfounded. A Walnut Creek station attendant, whose brand was going at 30.9 for regular and 36.9 for Ethyl, remarked, "Prices are going up and down so fast I can hardly keep track.

A low of 29.9 cents, three cents below normal, prevailed at several Orinda service stations. Lafayette gasoline prices were one cent higher in most instances, with regular gasoline selling at 30.9 cents a gallon.

Similar prices prevailed in Pleasant Hill for regular gas, but Ethyl had dropped to 34.9 cents a gallon, two cents lower than the cut price of 36.9 found in Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

Alamo remained untouched by the bouncing prices of the gas war, with "normal" prices of 32.9 cents a gallon for regular and 38.9 cents a gallon for Ethyl. However, the service station attendant remarked, "I think they're going down in Danville.

StudyCommittee Will Make Report To Board Monday

By Larry Glazier

Minor changes will be recommended in the zone structure of the Orinda Association at the regular meeting of the group's directors at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Orinda School.

The study of the nine-zone structure of the association has been in the making since January by Phillip Mittel and John Cheney, two of the group's present directors, and this will be the first report to the full board.

SUCH A study is required by the association's by-laws. The by-laws state that "During the calendar year 1960 and during each fifth calendar year subsequent thereto" the board of directors shall review the districts and redefine them if necessary.

Mittel reported that in his absence, Cheney will recommend the subdivision of some of the heavier-populated zones and the increasing in size of some of the smaller zones in order to equalize the representation on the board of directors.

According to the by-laws, whatever redefining of the present structure is voted by the board must be accomplished by the time new directors are nominated.

NOMINATIONS for four directors will be made by the association's civic affairs committee between October 15 and November 1.

Mittel said he and Cheney will

Wondrous Day Camp Days Ease Burden of Handicapped Kids

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Joyous shouts, laughter and the hum of busy children can be heard at most any park at any season, but the sounds coming from Walnut Creek City park this week and next are particularly heartwarming.

Twenty children are making the happy noise playing baseball, splashing in the spray pool, working at crafts and playing games. Not so unusual one might think at first approach, but a second look reveals every one of the 20 kids at play is handicapped in some way.

THE EMPTY wheel chair beside the pool, the crutches leaning against the picnic table, the specially constructed games for small hands that do not work just right, are all mute evidence that these youngsters have problems.

"Fun For All" is the motto of the camp, with the program planned to provide two weeks of outdoor pleasures and recreation activities based on the interests, desires and needs of the children attending. And do they have FUN!

Baseball? Of course! Every little boy dreams he's Babe Ruth or Mickey Mantle and just because one's legs don't work the way they should, doesn't mean a fellow's different inside.

THESE youngsters play ball in a unique way, but the thrill of a homerun is still there. With the help of energetic young counselors who really love them, the thrill of a hit is there.

The batter slugs, is snatched gently but quickly into the arms of a counselor who must get to first, second, and third base without being tagged. The batter is met at third base with his wheel chair and must then roll home on his own.

Games are constructed so that everyone plays. Mrs. Jack Gillette, camp director, has designed some of them herself and her husband has constructed them. The children play checkers with large checkers, easy to hold and easy to push around.

A MARBLE game, built by Mr. Gillette, is one of the favorites. Marbles roll around and drop through small roles, then the youngsters count the marbles, high score wins.

Crafts are fun when everyone can do something, and everybody can when taught how to use elbows, or hold materials between the knees, or is handed a carefully constructed paint brush designed to be attached to the hand with an elastic.

Monday, the first day of camp, the children were taken on a Nature Trail. This was an exploration of City Park, and along the way the youngsters gathered interesting rocks to be used later in the week in making paper weights.

MOVIES, a portable, manually operated phonograph, free watermelon donated by the Walnut Creek Lions Club, with free milk and ice cream, and a never ending source of new experiences with crafts, games and other kids make this day a wondrous experience for the campers.

"This year," said Mrs. Gillette, "We are trying something new, making camp also a visiting camp. We have several trips planned, for we feel these children do not often get the opportunity to visit the places other children do almost as a routine experience."

WEDNESDAY the campers journeyed by bus to St. Mary's College to meet the 49ers. "These young men are wonderful to the kids," remarked Mrs. Gillette. "They shake hands with them, pick them up and play with them, and best of all take a genuine interest in talking with them.

"We are planning a trip to Fleishhacker zoo, and then a visit to the Crippled Children's Center located nearby. We thought it might help the children to know that they are not the only youngsters with handicaps.

"Another trip will be a visit to a Shetland pony ranch, and every child will have a ride on a pony. Other trips will be made to Fairyland and Lake Merritt duck area," she concluded.

FUN AT camp will include puppet making, with the counselors putting on a puppet show for the campers after they have worked out their own puppets. A real live clown has been scheduled for the last day of camp, and in between exciting events include a visit from firemen complete with truck and equipment and an amateur magician.

"The children will make their own musical instruments," Mrs. Gillette said, "and will accompany the magician with their own music while he performs. All of us at day camp are most grateful to the many whose time and generosity has helped to make the trips possible and to give us much pleasure to these children," she added.

BRACES are forgotten and troubles splashed away when its Spray Pool time at Contra Costa County Crippled Children's Day Camp, held this week and next at Walnut Creek City Park. Teasing the girls, customary with small boys, is Spike Mulnix. Lucy Wilson looks on as Christine Trevino says, "OOOh, it's cold!"

Supervisors Will Take Assessment Ire To Capital

Chairman John W. Lynch of the state board of equalization refused the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors' invitation to discuss utility assessments in the county, so the county will go to Lynch.

This development came Tuesday when County Administrator Joseph P. McBrien read a letter from Lynch citing commitments with other counties and suggesting that the supervisors meet with the technical staff of the state board.

The Contra Costa officials want an explanation as to why the public utilities were given only a 2.07 per cent increase in assessments while the rest of the county is being increased on an average of 10 per cent.

The supervisors agreed to send a delegation to Sacramento under the direction of Supervisor Tom Coll.

No date has been set for the trip.

Stand on Welfare Supported

The National Association of County Officials at its convention in Miami Beach, Florida, has endorsed Contra Costa County's stand against making full welfare payments to uncooperative mothers of illegitimate children.

Board Chairman Mel Nielsen spoke to the convention, Wednesday.

He said that a resolution outlining the Contra Costa position has been recommended for distribution to all county and state agencies.

This development followed on the heels of a six-page statement by District Attorney John Nejedly, criticizing the Virgina League of Local Welfare Executives.

Nejedly said the League has pictured ". . . the poor unfortunate mother" opposed by the ". . . evil politician, the press, the farmer and the businessman."

Nejedly said, ". . . No taxpayer should ever be asked to pay to any mother a monthly pension when that mother has by promiscuous conduct deliberately created the condition for which she asks her neighbor to pay."

He added, ". . . the problem is not the establishment of rules and procedures for the care of those unable to provide for themselves; it is the abuse of these standards which have now become the objective and some people deliberately take advantage of these rules and procedures to create eligibility.

". . . This is the problem subject to criticism, not the young mother and child, as the League article would deceptively suggest," he said.

Association Committee Suggests Zone Changes

also recommend the inclusion of "two or three" directors-at-large for the board in the future.

He explained this, if passed, would give more interested Orindans the opportunity to serve on the association board. At present, some people are denied this privilege because only one director is elected from each zone.

ACCORDING to Mittel, this proposal would require a major change in the by-laws, because it would increase the size of the board. If it is acceptable to the directors, he added, there may not be time to adopt the change before next year.

Present zones of the association include:

I—The area north and west of the village, including Orinda Park Terrace, Orinda Oaks, Orinda Vista, that portion of Orinda Villa Park west of Orinda Highway (Camino Pablo), Orinda Court, Lake Orinda Highland, Garden of Eden and the village.

II—Sleepy Hollow, Sleepy Hollow Estates, Sleepy Hollow Knolls and Fairway Acres.

Nautical Exhibit At Orinda Library Through August

August is the month when Americans are more than usually conscious of boats and boating. Not only is it the ideal month for boating — the American Cup races are held in August if there is a challenger.

Those who love history may recall that the famous victory of the U.S. Constitution over the Guerriere took place on August 19, 1812.

Mrs. Spencer Archer, chairman of the exhibits committee of the Friends of the Orinda Library, has prepared an exhibition of materials lent by Mrs. H. Bertram Hotchkiss of Orinda, T. H. Nason of Alameda and the Maritime Museum in San Francisco.

Old etchings of the Constitution, the Leviathan, prints of clipper ships, antique and modern ships' gear, chronometer, sailors' knots and braids, newspapers commemorating the centenary of the building of the Constitution, a copy of Twe Years Before the Mast bound in sail cloth, and many other interesting items are included in the museum cases in the Orinda Library.

For those who wish to know more, a group of books about clipper ships was assembled with the help of six other branches in the Contra Costa County Library: Carl Cutler's Greyhounds of the Sea, H. Amger's Tall Ships to Cathay, S. E. Morrison's By Land and by Sea, and Reese Wolf's Yankee Ships and many others, some out of print now.

The exhibit will continue through August.

County Will Do Engineering for Cities, Districts

Any special districts or cities which have engineering problems on their hands can now get their work done for them "wholesale."

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors ruled Tuesday that the county will make available to county special districts, cities and independent special districts Public Works Department engineering services at cost.

They directed that the rates for such services will be the same as those charged against other county departments making use of Public Works Department services.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien was authorized to approve such arrangements on recommendation of Public Works Director Victor W. Sauer.

Charges will be cost plus a fixed percentage for administrative overhead, supervisors said.

Youth Tickets For Giant Game Still Available

Some tickets are still available for the final central county youth day at Candlestick Park, Don Blackwood, chairman of the event, announced today.

Blackwood said youngsters under the age of 14 years of age will have their final opportunity of the season to see the San Francisco Giants free of charge Thursday, when the Giants host the Cincinnati Reds.

The day will be celebrated as "Boy and Girl Scout Day," he stated, but nearly all of the Scout tickets have already been claimed.

He added that some extra ducats are available for boys and girls in the area. The tickets may be obtained at Lafayette Dime and Dollar in Lafayette or at the Village Shoe Shop in Orinda.

Buses will leave Stanley School in Lafayette at 10 a.m. Thursday for the stadium. Youngsters pay $1 for round trip transportation, and the reserved seat is free, courtesy of the Giants.

Blackwood said the youngsters are urged to bring their own bag lunches.

Come Along on a Visit to the Fortune Teller with Us...

WHAT'S COMING UP? Wealth, a trip to Europe, a dark handsome man? Anticipation hangs breathlessly while the writer waits for the turn of a card.

Here's a Thought...

Bored With Your Present? It's Fun To Explore Future

By CONNIE PIKE

Somewhat timidly I tapped on the door in Lafayette beneath a sign that read "Palmistry—Questions Answered." While a minute ticked by I envisioned a gaunt turbanned figure standing inside, complete with crystal ball, and I started to back away.

"Courage, woman!" I told myself. "You want to know why people find fortune-tellers so fascinating, don't you?"

The door opened and a plump woman stood there, her dark eyes sparkling and her cheerful face lighted by a flashing smile.

"Uh—I'll bet you haven't time to see me now," I began, but she had already led me into a small colorful living room, chatting about the weather.

SHE WAS DRESSED in a full cotton skirt and white blouse and her jewelry consisted of a single ring. No turban and no darkened room. I felt a little let down and a lot more confident.

"I'd like to have my fortune told," I said.

We went into a smaller room and sat a table by a sunny window. After discussing the price of various types of readings, we came to an agreement and she brought out a deck of cards—the method I had selected.

Quickly she turned up a young dark-haired man, eyeing me slyly, then proceeded until she found an older man. This second man was my husband, she said. Who was the first one?

Feeling as guilty as a pet dog by an empty bird cage, I shrugged.

"Maybe he's an early romance?" she prodded.

AFTER A BLANK moment, I remembered. Back in the third grade there was a boy named Junior Higgins who insisted on giving me sticky lollipops. Now that I thought about it, the dark young man looked a lot like Junior.

Hardly had he overcome that obstacle when she turned up several more men. They were both fair and dark, young and old, and the lady stared at me speculatively. I blushed.

"Goodness," I said. "I never saw them before."

She smiled knowingly. "We'll see," she said. "These cards never lie." She seemed convinced I was giving Ava Gardner a run for her money.

She insisted there would be another marriage or maybe two, but she didn't say which man—men. I believe she thought it would be Junior.

TRIPS ARE ever-popular events. The lady said there would soon be a short one and she was correct. I had to take my son to the dentist.

There would be a longer one, then a trip east, and the finale—a trip abroad. All within two years.

Although death turned his ugly face from us, two women appeared on the scene, both enemies, and both sitting home wishing bad luck upon me.

I can't identify them, so I'll just avoid all women until January, when my luck is due to change.

Among the happy things I can count on are fame and wealth. Not just a little, but a big, splashy kind. She also said somebody would pay back some money they owe me, but I believe she may have had this backward.

IN 45 MINUTES she outlined more plans than can be carried out in the long life she predicted, unless I work fast. We could run down to Los Angeles, and dash home during Christmas vacation to fulfill the eastern vacation.

Then we'd be all set for the trip abroad and I'd like to get on with that. I do hope the money comes through before we leave. We may be gone a long time.

In addition to avoiding women, I'll steer clear of courtrooms and both fair and dark men. I don't think my husband would approve of another marriage, or even an engagement.

But I'll go along with the rest of it. It sounds like a very pleasant future.

"Do you really believe all that?" every one asks.

Don't be silly. Where else can you get a year's supply of inspiration for so little? According to the lady, I have only to wait and all of these wonderful events will occur. That's fate.

I don't argue with fate.

OH NO, IT COULDN'T BE—not with all the positive thoughts being held. Subsequently the unfortunate card kept a healthy distance from the subject.

Food Poisoning Fells 70 Guests At Family Picnic

Seventy guests were stricken with food poisoning on Sunday after partaking of luncheon served at a family picnic held at Marsh Creek Lodge.

Sixteen members of the Giovannoni family who attended the annual gathering were held in Concord Community Hospital after complaining of violent cramps and nausea. They have since been released.

Dr. John Baier, assistant Contra Costa County health officer, said the probable cause of the poisoning was straphylococcus bacteria forming on the unrefrigerated luncheon food.

About 4:30 p.m. a number of women and small children began complaining of nausea and cramps and by 6 p.m. nearly half the 150 persons were near collapse. Family members alerted the hospital which mustered all available doctors and nurses. Unpoisoned guests drove the seriously ill to the hospital where all 70 were treated.

Among those who were kept in the hospital overnight were Charles Baumann of Orinda and Anthony DeFerrar, 4, of Lafayette.

Food samples from the picnic were to undergo analysis to determine the cause of the poisoning.

Collision Ties Traffic For 2 Hours

Traffic was tied up for nearly two hours, last Saturday night, as a result of a two-car, head-on collision, a half mile south of the Broadway tunnel.

Riders in the car headed south were Mark and Merrill King, brothers from Claymond, Del. Investigators have not determined which was the driver.

Driver of the other car was Robert Burt of San Francisco, a salesman, who was accompanied by his wife, Sandra.

All four sustained injuries and were taken to Kaiser Hospital, Oakland.

Supervisor's Charges Are Answered By Pets and Pals

Glad Sargent, president and founder of Pets and Pals, Inc., today issued the following public statement in answer to charges made last week by Chairman Mel Nielsen of the County Board of Supervisors:

A news release in the August 12, 1960 Sun has been brought to Pets and Pals' attention — which quotes Supervisor Mel Nielsen. This release is replete with misstatements and false and unfounded allegations:

(1) PETS AND Pals was incorporated December 15, 1948 as a non-profit Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals under and pursuant to Section 607 of the Civil Code of the State of California and the Secretary of State so certified on December 29, 1948, following the required review by the state. A copy of its articles of incorporation are duly on file with the county clerk of Alameda County, wherein its head office is located.

The State Franchise Tax Commissioner granted the corporation exemption from California Franchise Tax under date of November 28, 1948.

The U.S. Treasury Department at Washington, D.C., under date of January 19, 1950, ruled Pets and Pals exempt from Federal Income Tax, Social Security and Employment Taxes and that contributions made to it are deductible by donors for income tax purposes. They are likewise deductible for state income tax purposes.

(2) UNDER date of February 14, 1956, the county assessor of Contra Costa County was furnished a copy of this organization's articles of incorporation. This organization's affidavit of welfare exemption has been duly filed with Contra Costa County each year since that time.

The California State Board of Equalization, under date of September 12, 1956, ruled that Pets and Pals under Section 214 of the Revenue Taxation Code met the welfare exemption statutes of California and so notified the county assessor of Contra Costa County, following which the assessor, the district attorney and the board of supervisors reviewed and approved this organization's exemption.

(3) CONCERTED action against Pets and Pals as a health menace have only started since this organization and its president and founder have taken a public stand against the enforced inoculation of dogs for rabies.

The facts are uncontroverted — the U. S. Department of Health mortality statistics show that only one person in 27,000,000 died of rabies and/or the Pasteur treatment per year. State and federal statistics show rabies in skunks and bats predominately.

The first time we knew of any criticism of the shelter was the day the president was speaking before the Rabies Control Board at the Public Health Building in Berkeley — at which a representative of the attorney general's office admitted the former meeting had been of "DUBIOUS VALIDITY."

The Health Department has been at the shelter nearly every week since then — and they have told the workers either everything is O.K. or admitted, if they suggested something be done, it was done.

WHO IS PETS and Pals a health menace to? The freeway is at the back of the property — Mt. Diablo Boulevard in front — a lumber and brick yard at one side — the other side is an old road used by trucks for storage up in back — and beyond this road is a small office for pool service — an auto yard — then Mel Nielsen's auto repair and then his service station.

(4) NIELSEN apparently did not know that the County Animal Control Center (Pound) also uses chloroform. For the public's information, any veterinarian can put a pet to sleep permanently with a shot inside of a few seconds; this method is far superior to the euthanasia chamber.

The way Pets and Pals has put animals to sleep is not inhumane and we only put animals to sleep if we absolutely have to; we hold animals for months and months and many have been returned many times.

(5) Arthur Seeley did not tour the shelter with the group or at any other time as far as we know.

(6) THE GROUP found no carcass of a dog decomposing behind an old sofa to any of the workers' knowledge and a worker or our attorney were with the group at all times.

(7) The puppy could walk, it apparently had been hit a glancing blow by a car; the visiting delegation did not see it. The puppy was cared for by one of our workers.

(8) The shelter was not locked up after the group's visit. The shelter was closed at the time of the group's visit due to Mrs. Sargent and one of the employees having been with the district attorney relative to some of the numerous bedevilments.

During the past year Pets and Pals, their employees, its property and the President have been subjected to a series of harassments or bedevilments—such as:

1. Inducing their employees to leave, even unto securing other employment for them.

2. EXCESSIVE SO-CALLED inspections, beyond the call of official duties. No such series has ever been heard of by humane societies, breeders, veterinarians or any business organizations.

3. Trespass.

4. Molesting employees.

5. Idle unfounded gossip bordering on slander of both employees and this organization.

Income at Record High

Agricultural income for the Bay Area reached a record high in 1959, the Bay Area Council announced today. Agricultural production totaled $310,719,191, over 11 per cent more than the 1958 total, and surpassing the previous Bay Area high of $302,941,201 recorded in 1955.

Fruits and nuts, mainly from Santa Clara and Sonoma counties, continued to be the Bay area's leading crop. Livestock remained the crop second in importance, followed by milk and dairy products, truck crops, poultry, greenhouse and nursery crops, and field and seed crops.

Santa Clara and Sonoma counties continued to lead the Bay area in agricultural production, comprising over half the total. Santa Clara's principal agricultural money-makers were fruits and nuts, and truck crops; while Sonoma led the area in poultry, milk, and dairy products.

According to the council report, Contra Costa County had a total gross agricultural income of $22,735,800. Leading crops and products and their value to the rancher or farmer in this county are cattle and beef, $3,176,250; almonds, $2,488,210; and lettuce, $2,234,850.

Mason-McDuffie Cites Salesmen

In a year when real estate sales appear to be off slightly as compared to last year, Mason-McDuffie Co., prominent Bay area real estate firm, had its best year to date, according to Glen T. Noyes, partner and general sales manager.

In an informal report to his sales staff of 80 at a recent breakfast meeting, Noyes cited an increase of over one million dollars worth of sales as compared to 1959.

Six top sales producers were given a "silver dollar" award by the company for their outstanding record in the past three months. Among these were: Ellen Custard of Lafayette, Robert Magrath of Walnut Creek, and Rachel Rossi of Orinda.

Committees No Longer Free-Wheeling

County - appointed committees will no longer have a free hand, as in the past, Contra Costa supervisors decided last week, after hearing a complaint by Supervisor W. G. Buchanan of Pittsburg.

A tightening of restrictions on appointment, scope and tenure of committees will be effected.

Buchanan criticized a system of "government by committee."

County Administrator J. P. McBrien will review and report to the board the status of all existing citizens committees, and will offer recommendations on their continuation or dissolution.

Suggested is that a committee's tenure be limited to one year, subject to reappointment only when it is determined that their deliberations should continue.

Dramateurs' Production Opens 4-Week Run Tonight

"Dark at the Top of the Stairs," William Inge's popular play of family laughter and drama, begins performances tonight for a four-weekend run.

It will be given at Town Hall in Lafayette, and stars Marilyn Mackey, John Anton, Betty Reynolds, George Meyer, Tony Cone, David Corona, Roger Falk, Lanny Hertzberg, Kathi Brown and Joan Campbell.

THE PLAY IS UNUSUAL in that it presents a number of young people, seven from 12 to 20 years old. This is unusual among Dramateur productions. The play is under the direction of the little theater's director, Carl Rasmussen, and is the last performance of the summer season.

Marilyn Mackey, playing Cora, comes from University of California, Ohio State University and state teachers college theater experience. This is her first role with the Dramateurs.

John Anton played a lead in Anniversary Waltz, and will play Ruben. George Meyer, recently in the "Barretts of Wimpole Street" and "Picnic" plays Morris. Betty Reynolds, the group's president and featured in "Anniversary Waltz," "High Ground" and "Voice of the Turtle" portrays Lottie.

IN THE YOUNGSTERS' roles, four are dually cast to give greater experience to more young people in the theater field.

Inge's imaginative writing brings the lives of ordinary people to view, stripping them of their daily pattern and showing them in interesting perspective. The Dramateurs' emphasis and experimentation in sound techniques find an ideal outlet in the Inge production.

Roger Falk and Lanny Hertzberg play Punky. Both boys are active in community and high school theater. Tony Cone and David Corona are 12 years old, and play Sonny.

KATHI BROWN, a student at the University of California at Riverside, plays Flirt. Dave Daniels and Joan Campbell playing Sammy and Reenie have both been active in drama work in high school.

The show can also be seen August 26 and 27, September 2 and 3, and 9 and 10. Tickets and reservations are available by calling CL 4-4419, CL 4-2460 and at Town Hall, AT 4-9965, on performance nights.

Property Owner Removes Cars From Sewer Path

Work is proceeding on the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District's sewer line along Dolores Court in Alamo, despite protests from Herbert Glenn Odom and Max Sanchez, property owners in the area.

Earlier in the week Odom parked both his cars on his lawn in defiance of a court order to permit digging of the sewer ditch. Work on the line was stopped Tuesday by Odom's cars which stood directly in the path of the line.

Contractors Williams and Burrows moved their crew to another section of the line.

ATTORNEY Richard Calhoun, retained by the two property owners Monday, filed for a restraining order in Contra Costa County Superior Court, but was turned down.

Judge Wakefield Taylor, Calhoun and the district attorney cautioned Odom if he prevented the work from proceeding he faced contempt charges.

The three-mile long line was planned by the sanitary district to serve residents on nearly 2000 acres of the Stone Valley watershed. A six-foot trench 75 feet in length was condemned through Odom's property at 20 Dolores Court.

ODOM and Sanchez, along with C. L. Boyd of 10 Dolores Court, first protested the route at the district board of directors meeting June 16, when authorization was granted to condemn easements in the Round Hill Estates development.

Odom objected then, saying he wanted to build a carport on that section of his land, that the 15" line would devaluate his property and that the sewer route could easily be relocated.

SANCHEZ protested at the meeting the line would sever a section of his property, so that he could not build any permanent structure—such as a swimming pool—on it, and Boyd asked district directors why the sewer could not be routed along the back of the property.

President of the board, Richard Mitchell recommended the condemnation request be held over until the routing could be reviewed further, but directors approved the easements with a 3-1 vote.

Directors Irving Roemer, Frank Salfingere and Arthur Bowman voted yes, Mitchell voted no and Ernest Spiegel was not present.

Second Meet On Moraga Is Planned

The citizens' study committee on the Moraga Plan will hold a second meeting in Martinez Wednesday to continue its discussion of possible changes in the proposed general and precise zoning plans.

Residents of the Moraga area said after last week's initial meeting that they might be willing to accept some retail commercial zoning in the community.

At that time, Russell Griffith, principal planner for the county, said the statement shows the first progress in the long controversy between Moraga residents and the Utah Construction Company.

Bridge Freeway Approaches Bids Are Opened

The State Division of Highways in Sacramento this week called for bids on eight highway projects including the Contra Costa County approach to the Benicia-Martinez bridge.

The Contra Costa County project involves grading and paving to construct 3.8 miles of four-lane freeway between State Sign Route 4 and the Benicia-Martinez bridge now under construction.

Approximately $5,500,000 in toll bridge authority bond funds is available for the project. Bids will be opened September 21 in Sacramento.

The project is the third major unit of the $34,000,000 Benicia-Martinez Bridge toll project to be advertised for bids. Work is now in progress on the two largest units, the bridge substructure and superstructure, at a total cost of about $15,000,000.

The bridge and freeway approaches are scheduled to be completed and opened to traffic in the summer of 1962. The Contra Costa County freeway approaches are scheduled to be completed and opened to traffic in the summer of 1962.

The project includes construction of seven traffic separation bridges with interchange and access facilities provided at several locations.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Where there's smoke, there's fire

Consider the case of the copper-bottom pan, crisp & charcoal on the inside, sitting in a suds of ammonia water to soften the charred inside . . . Like the Lady of the House once said—"I learned long ago not to do TWO things at once!"

Well, w/Ted Schilling guesting overnite, we asked him what he'd like for breakfast knowing he'd name Norwegian pancakes, a thinnish platter laced w/lingon-berries & sprinkled w/powdered sugar & thin syrup.

So to get ahead of the next morning's madness, we started the brown sugar syrup on the stove, then disappeared into the TV room. Fifteen minutes later someone hollered "Hey, Mom, something's burning" & there went our pot & ALMOST a fire, the whole kitchen smothered in smoke.

We have lost more good pots & pans that way & hereby promise wholeheartedly to not again try to do TWO things at once! Like the cookies that have crisped into charcoal while we ran out to water the begonias . . . or the cheese sandwiches that melted all over the oven when we just meant to warm them temporarily.

A lady friend of ours has recently learned the Hard Way too, hustling & bustling a batch of chicken on the stove, turning up the heat & then, O, forgetful one, trotting off to a neighbor's for tea . . . Minutes later, a passerby noticed the house exuding smoke signals & called the fire dept. Lady of the House sipping her tea heard the sirens. A passing neighbor boy called to tell her "its YOUR house that's on fire" . . .

A thorough check of the house before dashing off & out is your own best fire insurance policy. Incidentally, a reminder from Fire Commish Zach Montgomery . . . Have you checked your fire insurance lately? Remember that value has usually increased since purchase. Especially a good idea is to spend a sunny afternoon making a personal inventory. Most companies furnish folders for such records.

Something more on the fire

WHICH REMINDS US that several years ago Elsie Harmon was sitting serenely in church one Sunday morn when something in the sermon, maybe the mention of a "burned offering," brought her up sharply to the chagrin of it all that she'd put a pie in the oven early that day & had forgot to turn off the oven & remove it. Her pie runneth over . . . & how!

LONG DISTANCE LETTERS . . . & cartes postales in local mailboxes from Betty & Jim Lindsay & their lassies who are having a tour of Europe . . . ditto Jack & Kay McLaren due home from THEIR fling in France, etc.

It's a Dutch Treat for Shell Oil family, the Chandler Barkelews, who after four days in the Amsterdam Hotel, found a house w/plenty of room & SEVEN bedrooms. Virginia, writing a Round Robin letter to Mariposa Lane neighbors, says that all the appliances are SO TINY the refrig. only large enough for a few bottles of Dutch lager. The funniest sign they've seen along the spic & span streets was the one for "stufzuiker" meaning vacuumn cleaner. Transportation in the main is by bicycle & the children, Claire, Jimmie & Julia can't wait to peddal THEIRS, esp. to the Dutch School nrby. which they will attend.

COOL SIGHT ON A HOT DAY . . . That Gainsborough gal Chris Lang, a perfect green pear mit stem & leaf, poking out of her straw basket, one she'd picked from a tree at Eve Parker's.

SOUR DOUGH STORY: One of our friends, a real Gourmet cook, waved an old issue of GOURMET wildly at her ever lovin' & well-fed husband & brightly beamed the news that she'd uncovered a recipe for the real McCoy "Sour Dough pancakes." Since the initial batter had to ferment three days before dining on the famous doughy discs, she went ahead & planned to have them the following Saturday morning . . . Came Sat. & she took the bowl of overpowering potato batter to add the remaining ingredients, but alas, help, S.O.S., she couldn't find the GOURMET issue from whence had cometh the recipe!

For two hours, she & hubby sat at the kitchen table poring carefully through a pile of old Gourmets but no luck! They decided to go to the main library & surely uncover it there. SO off they went & while husband father wrestled in the car w/the moppets for two hours, friend went through every Gourmet mag on the shelves. NOW HUBBY'S mouth was really watering, esp. when she emerged to tell him—No Luck! Home again they sat down to a diligent reading ritual, finally finding the issue, the only one where the recipe was in the Letters To The Ed., dept. Accdg. to our friends, it was worth ALL the trouble!

MORE COOL POOL SIGHTS . . . Newspaper gal Robin Duffy plunging into the Park Pool waters unawares that she was still wearing her sun glasses . . . SOMEBODY'S husband swimming SWIMMINGLY across the water, a big cigar still lighted & burning in his mouth . . . & we hear that Jean Bottjer accomplishes the remarkable feat of reading while swimming or afloat.

THE JUNIOR JET SET: Buddy Worth's biggest summer thrill was jetting to the Southland for a stay w/his pal Jimmie Geyer of the Olympics PR-man Jack Geyers. Then both boys jetted back here again for Jimmy to stay w/Buddy Worth & see his old Park Pool buddies.

Tim Loughman, another member of the junior birdmen, who flew to SoCal for a stay w/relatives . . . our senior Birdwoman Barbara Graber (she just passed her aeronautics tests w/FLYING COLORS) flew w/her four youngfry to the Coeur d'Alene lakes in Idaho, Vic flying up later on commercial airline. They're home now.

The Ken Courtrights & crew were among those singing w/their supper at Berk. Tuol. camp early in the season . . . Dr. Don Minkler took his Betsy & brood cruising up the Redwood Hwy . . . Home from Kansas & Missouri & a midwest motoring trip, the DeLoss Winklers of Sleepy Hollow .. . The Beau Guinthers of SH will be moving—to Ukiah where they've bought a ranch!

Out of the frying pan . . .

Jean & Bob Haaf will add another to the Reiger Roster (she's Hugh Rieger's & Marge Douglasses sister) as well as their own w/another Half-pint due in the Fall. What's more, Marge & Bill Douglass will do a ditto sometime in the Spring.

HAPPIEST SOUND of a Saturday morning—the hundreds of cars tooting Tidings of the early morning nuptials of Gary Lucas & Judy Roberts.

Newcomers in the former Wilson home on El Toyonal are Hazel & Lynn Vierra who have been christening their house w/company by the carload, parties & more parties so delighted are they w/their new home & no need for any pep pills here! Their dghtr. Susan plays a beautiful cello & will be a welcome addition to music circles here!

ATTN: Cello chums! . . . Somebody is ALWAYS calling here looking for a celloist for a string ensemble. See above—she's THAT good!

What's new? Chocolate-covered & strawberry flavored toothbrushes, that's wot & this'll floor you . . . there's a new choc. flavored VODKA on the market. Wot next?

THE MOVING VAN is transferring the lares & penates of Bob & Louise Walpole & their offspring, Robin, Debbie & Liz from Charles Hill Rd. to Palos Verdes in Southern California. Bob, a former Orinda Association director, has been long-distance commuting for some six months, but not now they've found a house they like & the family will join him there before school starts.

Neighbors Claire & Dick Blake hosted a Fond Farewell buffet supper in honor of the Walpoles last Sun, nite.

Mid-August BEACHCOMBINGS . . . Jackie & Bill Robinson have just returned from a 2-wk. vacation at Aptos . . . HEADED that way w/their herd of children are Betty Hagstrom, Audrey Gregory & Mary Lou Buell who will be sifting sand from a joint-rental of a beach-front house. Connie Miller & her youngsters are among the current Aptos clam-diggers.

WHENEVER GEORGE HAUER drives by, his handsome tanned face confuses the kids. They think it's either Brett Maverick—or Bachelor Father!

The Carl Wellington Smiths who have a young dghtr. themselves, will become Grandparents in the Spring. Dghtr. Julie Ann & her husband are expecting thereby making little sister Cara a great big AUNT.

Houseguesting at the Jim Hupp's last week was Carol Thurston, dghtr. of former Orindans Bill & Jean Thurston who are now living in Glendora. Laurie Hupp hostessed her good chum to a week of horsebackriding, swimming & all the home-fun that generally takes place at the Hupp household.

REMINDER TO residents of the El Toyonal region . . . A meeting Mon. nite at the Orinda Park Scout Hut for the purpose of discussing the road-widening of upper El Toyonal. Mtg. starts at 8 PM & county officials, road-man Vic Sauer & Supervisor Mel Nielsen will be there.

As we sign off, the sound of the Swiss Alps horns in on the silence . . . that being the Winfree children who are back from Clear Lake w/a mountaineer's horn. They'd better be careful or they'll have a couple of cows in their backyard! Which is what the neighbors are having . . . we thought it was the air-raid horn on the blink! No Bull!

Rapid Transit Brings Real Dilemma Right Off Bat

The adoption of a route for high speed rapid transit trains through Central Contra Costa County has brought with it a real dilemma for local residents.

The system, as it now stands adopted by the directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit System, will carry trains down Olympic Boulevard rather than routing the trains down the freeway between Lafayette and Orinda.

THE SUN HAS GONE on record opposing the use of this routing for several reasons, all of which have been stated in these columns many times. The primary reason being that we would like to see all transportation media following the same routing—the freeway.

But now there is a question—a question of dollars and cents. The rapid transit system, as originally envisioned, was larger than could be financed by the assessed valuation of the counties involved.

And the directors also changed the routing of some of the lines, including the above-mentioned section.

NOW, A QUESTION: If we can't have the rapid transit system located where we want it, would we better off not to have any at all?

The transit district has been most fair with local residents. Representatives have met with local groups, heard their objections, and, in fact, changed the routing to meet local sentiment.

But when the chips were down, and it became a matter of dollars and cents, the routing was changed again to follow the original plan, at a great financial saving we are told.

Certainly if each community in the district were given a free rein in the location of the lines and the type of construction to be followed, then we would never have a rapid transit system, which we badly need.

FOR EXAMPLE, Berkeley wanted much of the system to be underground; so did Walnut Creek. This would have been so expensive that the system would never have been built. Obviously, these wishes could not be met by the directors.

If the transit system is constructed, there can be no question but that the entire area will benefit. The district is spending $10 million just to build a tunnel through the hills to get the transit system here in the first place, and that is a pretty good hunk of money.

EX-SUPERVISOR Jack Cummings, a member of the transit board, in approving the Olympic Boulevard routing, said: "These people built their homes near the railroad and knew it was there. A fine, modern rapid transit system should not bother them as much as the railroad."

This is a factor to take into consideration, naturally. Mr. Cummings has a point. But also, many people who have built in that area since the tracks were torn up, have never heard a train run by their house and had no reason to believe that one would ever do so.

It provides a dilemma—one that must be answered and must be thought out by the people who will be affected—all of us.

A Case of Leadership...

It looks like the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors has done what the people expect it to do—offered an example of good, sound leadership.

Their handling of the relocation and consolidation of some of our county's judicial and municipal courts last week was excellent.

Like some horses we have heard of, the members got off to a rather slow start, but they came through in the stretch in fine fashion.

Their original acceptance of the Gibson Report — received with a sort of shrug of the collective shoulders (with the exception of Supervisor Tom Coll it might be added)—augured a poor reception to what looks, on the surface, like an excellent plan.

BUT, IN TURNING over the matter to County Administrator J. P. McBrien with instructions to make a complete study and give them "strong recommendations for action," board members have provided the kind of leadership we expect from our county government officials.

The Gibson Report made sense. Here we have the recommendations of the State Judicial Council, and it looks as if the county can save a great deal of money annually by adopting the recommendations.

And when the county saves money, that reflects on your tax bill.

The board members implied, when they received the report, that it was probably fine, but that "the people would never stand still for these changes."

Well, that remains to be seen. And by taking action, as the board has, we might be able to make some changes and some advancements in the court system which will benefit everyone.

Ask the People, Maybe?

Two new members have been appointed to the board of trustees of the Acalanes High School District.

William B. Freeman of Lafayette and Mrs. Alice McBride of Walnut Creek resigned, and have been replaced on the board by Mrs. Alla Knudsen of Lafayette and Glen Allen of Walnut Creek.

THE SUN FEELS that these new members were excellent choices for the board and will do an outstanding job. Certainly they will have a difficult time filling the shoes of Mrs. McBride and Freeman, who have served long and ably.

But there is some question about how the choice was made. It was not general knowledge that the two board members were resigning, and the communities did not know that a member would be chosen from their area to fill the two vacancies.

It is common procedure, when choosing board members to:

Either have the superintendent of schools recommend to the board a candidate, which the board accepts and forwards to the county superintendent of schools.

OR, THE BOARD selects its own members and makes recommendations to the county.

Or, conceivably, the county superintendent himself recommends to the county board of education the persons he would like to see seated on the board.

According to one member of the county superintendent's staff, "it is not generally left to the public to supply recommendations from which the local school board will accept members."

THERE ARE MANY able and conscientious people in both communities who would be glad to give of their time and effort. Perhaps the choice would have been the same as it is now—and we welcome these new members—but we do feel that the people of the area should have known that two vacancies would exist, and they should have been able to make recommendations for filling them.

A Handy Book for Voters

By LARRY GLAZIER

All of us know by now that there is a very important national election scheduled for November 8.

But I'm sure that not everyone realizes how closely the election will affect each and every central county resident, above and beyond the fact that the balloting will result in the naming of a new President.

Because in addition to the Presidential issue, the ballot will include candidates for the U.S. Congress, State Senate and Assembly and 15 State constitutional amendments.

THE EXPLANATORY brochure on the proposed amendments, advance copies of which were recently distributed by Secretary of State Frank Jordan, points out how important it is for every eligible voter in the state to be informed on all issues.

But California residents must remember that before they can qualify to get one of the handbooks, they must be registered in the proper precinct. Registration for the general election closes September 15.

Among the more controversial of the issues are Propositions Nos. 1 and 15, the former being the state water bond issue of $1.75 billion and the latter being the Senate reapportionment proposal.

LOCAL LEGISLATORS have explained on numerous occasions why they believe the proposed act would be harmful to Contra Costa County, and it is imperative that every prospective voter understand the bond issue so that he can understand what the legislators are talking about.

Proposition 15 seeks to establish a new constitutional formula for apportioning the 40 Senatorial districts in the state. The measure, offered by Chairman Frank Bonelli of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, affects the representation of every county on the state level.

THE REMAINING November ballot measures deal with disabled veterans' tax exemptions, terms of office for a new state college board, salaries for State Legislators, assessment of golf courses, chiropractors, voting privileges of ex-felons.

Also claims against chartered cities and counties, composition of the State Judicial Council, obsolete and superseded provisions of the State Constitution, appeals from decisions of lower courts and street and highway funds.

Although the state brochure may not make the most exciting reading available, it does present an interesting preview of what to expect in November.

So why not register to vote, get a copy of the booklet, read it and then, above all, vote?

Letters To The Editor

VICARIOUS SEX

Dear Editor:

Let me begin by asking a question: If given a choice, which of the following conditions would you prefer existed in this community:

(1) The selling of magazines which contained photographs of semi-nude women (such as in Playboy), or (2) the selling of books which gave detailed descriptions of seduction, rape, and sadism?

Needless to say, the people here have censored the former and permitted without reservation the latter.

This double standard of morality is especially confusing when we realize that various "types" of magazines are sold here which offer the purchaser quality as well as mediocrity, but seldom is the purchaser offered more than sub-mediocre and sub-normal paperbacks.

To those who would cry out that there are only obscene paperbacks, let me advise a trip to the Oakland or San Francisco airports.

There you will find paperbacks published by The New American Library and others which comprise the best authors of the past and present with an infinite number of subjects.

It seems to me that the merchants have a responsibility toward the citizens of this community to offer at least a choice.

I do not wish to bring discredit to the merchants of our community for they probably have many problems to contend themselves with.

I do wish, however, to make clear that there is a reason to be concerned with this condition, and, as I have tried to state above, a possible way to amend this condition.

EDUCATION

Dear Editor:

The publicity The Sun has so generously given to the Mt. Diablo Evening School has been a valuable medium in expanding the Adult Education program in this area during the past years.

With the help of our local newspapers, it is possible to keep the public well-informed on the educational opportunities provided for completing a high school education, improving job opportunities and developing skills in various artistic and instructional fields.

We sincerely appreciate your co-operation in printing our news items. Thank you fo your interest and your help.

CHARLES T. CARLSON,
Principal.

PETS AND PALS

Dear Editor:

How can anyone criticize a great humanitarian such as Glad Sargent of Pets and Pals?

Those who criticize her should hang their heads in shame and go out to Pets and Pals and ask "Glad, what can I do to help out?"

Dog owners, breeders and show dog owners are 100 per cent behind Glad Sargent and the great work she does for animals.

I'm wondering if the reason she is being criticized isn't because she has successfully been blocking rabies shots on a compulsory permanent basis.

I have "news" for all those who had anything to do with declaring Contra Costa County a rabies area.

In the August 1960 issue of "Dog World," the largest dog magazine in this country, on page five, entitled "Science and the Dog," it says "The Swiss evidently are skeptical of the effectiveness of currently available methods of preventive immunization against rabies. At any rate, acting on the opinion of some experts and in view of the present situation in Switzerland, the Swiss Federal Veterinary Office has refused acknowledgment of preparations for the preventive immunization in animals against this disease."

Keep up the tremendous job you are doing, Glad Sargent, as we are all behind you.

We Like It Here...

But It's a Hard Pill To Swallow, Doc . . .

By MARIE MONAHAN

ANOTHER DAY, Another Doctor! This is the story of our lives!

Well, Sirs, I may be in good health, but I'm Sick, Sick, Sick at the cost of finding out—for my Lilliputs & the rest of my Dear Ones.

We have sat together patiently in some of the best offices this side of Milpitas. We have read every issue of the latest slick magazines & the recorded music pouring through the paneling has temporarily mesmerized us into forgetting we're paying to the hilt for our medical & dental care.

WE ARE LIVING in the age of Specialists. It keeps you on the run.

Long gone is the old bearded boy who drove his horse & buggy through storm & sleet to soothe the sickened child. Long gone is the one-stop office where your thorax was given the same thorough going-over as your water-on-the-knee.

The Doctors now come calling in their Cads & Jaguars & business is so booming that they haven't time to hold your hand . . .

BY THE TIME a mother lines up appointments for an average family, say, of four children plus papa, she can well qualify as an expert booking agent. What's more, by the time she's chauffeured them from the dentist to the orthodontist to the bone man to the eyeman, she's ready herself for another kind of specialist—the psychiatrist.

NOW THERE'S something we never heard of twenty-five years ago! The word psychiatrist or psychologist was as strange a species as flying saucers. We never heard of 'em!

WHAT'S MORE, we never heard of switch-blade fights & Juvenile Delinquents. We had our sharpies & Finale-Hoppers but nothing to compare to the hoods & rogues of this modern day. There was no talk of sex & none of psychology & it seemed we were better off growing up that way.

CHILDREN were kept busy with chores, too busy to get into trouble outside of the usual Tom Sawyer stuff. Mama never complained either. She, too, was busy WITHOUT the help of dishwashers, tranquilizers & pep pills . . . or intermittent glasses of sherry! She never read a Kinsey report & she was a well-loved & well-adjusted woman!

Grandma never saw a doctor & lived to a ripe 92 worked sun-up til' sundown & STILL had time to hear prayers & turn down the "kivvers" . . .

MAYBE too much of this mental & health awareness is weakening our world!

SURE we raise a handsome & healthy bunch of offspring! But while we're stuffing them with vitamins & wonder drugs & banding their teeth, what are we filling their hearts & heads with? Better a boy with buck teeth who knows his business—& his paper route!

THE HARDEST PILL to swallow—is the high cost of medicine. Gulp! It just won't go down—

A bottle of pills at one drug store cost twice as much at another one.

If you carry medical insurance, in many cases, another chunk is simply added to the charges.

PEOPLE MAY be living longer but listen to the lament of the old folks. They're not sure they want to if all their savings are swallowed up in medical bills.

WE ARE GLAD for good doctors & thankful we can pamper ourselves & our children—& pay for it to boot.

But let's not let it get out of hand.

The next thing you know this age of Specialists will turn up a Medical Analyst who, from birth through the teens at $2500 per, will take over the physical & mental development of our children. Then what will be have?

Como Esta Usted? Or What's Doing in Mexico?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

I wish I were Stan Delaplane of The Chronicle.

He could do a good job with today's column.

But I'm not.

So . . . let me talk about Mexico. Last month we vacationed there and . . .

"Pardon the interruption, boss . . ." (It's Snoopy, the office cat). "Did you and Eleanor get sick in Mexico? You know, tourist problem—sickness!"

No, Snoopy. I did not get sick for one minute; Eleanor did not get sick; Mark did not get sick.

Everybody asks about it . .

I don't mean to jump down your throat, Snoop, but you are the millionth person to ask this question, after hearing about our trip.

"Well, boss, what's your secret?"

There's no secret, Snoop. Just use common sense, mixed with caution. Mexico is a foreign country. It is just as foreign as Hong Kong, Japan, Algeria or the European countries. To go to Mexico, you need only a smallpox vaccination; to go to many others you need typhoid, typhus, cholera, and/or yellow fever. In any foreign land, you do whatever is required. You take certain precautions.

In some countries, you don't drink the water; in other countries you avoid certain foods. You find out what the "health rules" are—and observe them carefully.

No trouble at all . .

That, Snoopy, is the "secret." Learn what you can eat and do and learn what you can't. Then, stick to the rules. It's as easy as that. And it's no hardship.

We had delicious food. Luscious tropical fruits—pineapple, papaya, bananas, mangoes. The fish is superb—delicious prawns, red snapper, lobster—you name it, Mexico has it. The steaks are good. You can have French, German, American, Spanish, Italian—and even Mexican food. I love Mexican food and ordered it in many restaurants that didn't even have it on the menu.

So—who cares if for a few days, you do without unpeeled fruit, a fresh vegetable salad, milk and other dairy products (in certain places)?

He's bragging again!

I've spinned more words on this health matter than I originally planned, but it seems to be such a weighty problem with so many. I have been through the heart of Mexico four times and visited the border towns five times—and have never been ill yet.

"Okay, boss, we believe you," mewed Snoopy. "How did you travel?"

We had a wonderful flight on Mexicana Airlines (CMA), catching one of their wonderful new jets. It's only three hours and 15 minutes of fun from Los Angeles to Mexico City—and the champagne was delicious. And, incidentally, this round-trip flight on their beautiful jet, Comet 4C, costs only $158!

Incidentally, Mexicana Airlines has just opened offices in S.F. to help your local travel agent get fast service for you.

Free travel advice

I didn't intend to fill this column with travel tips but I do want to mention Garza Travel Service, which does a superb job in Mexico. Worden Travel Service and others throughout the Bay Area work closely with Garza Mexican tours. Garza also has an office in S.F., to give travel agents fast service.

Every travel book will tell you that Mexico is a land of contrasts. And so true!

Mexico is a land of contrasts in "dollars" too.

You can go to a beautiful restaurant in Mexico City for a superb dinner for $5, American money. Or around the corner you can order a delicious, well-cooked dinner for 12 pesos—less than $1.

Here's How! Salud!

You can buy a fifth of the best Tequila for less than $1; or pay the same for 1 drink of the same at a ritzy hotel. Or get the same at a smaller hotel in Oaxaca for 35 cents.

Some of the inexperienced workers in a bank receive 22 pesos a day—less than $2. But you might tip that much for a dinner for your party.

Mexico is a land of fun—and so inexpensive! Where else can you get a foreign vacation, with so little cost to get there, at such bargain rates?

And you have the widest of choice: You can pay $14 day, each, at the superb Presidente in Acapulco, with wonderful food and living in the greatest luxury. Or, at another hotel, you can get plain accommodations without luxury for $5—with food.

Next time take a burro

Transportation is amazingly cheap. You taxi across Mexico City, going five miles, for 60 cents or a bus for 15 cents.

An American dollar is worth 12.50 pesos. While inflation has also hit Mexico, 12.50 pesos can go a long, long way. When you compare Mexican vacation costs with vacations in other countries or in the U.S., a Mexican vacation really looks good.

You can spend as little or as much as you wish, depending upon your accommodations. But the very best is less expensive than similar accommodations elsewhere.

Now just a final note. When you go to Mexico, stop and look at yourself as a Mexican sees us. What would you think if a foreigner walked into the Palace Hotel in a loud sport shirt and Bermudas? In Mexico City you dress as you would in San Francisco; in the smaller towns it is much more informal. And the weather is marvelous all year.

Meet the people

Mexicans are wonderful, friendly people. But you should meet them half way. Smile, say "buenos dias"—good morning.

Learn a bit of Spanish from the tour books; or buy a set of language records. Eleanor and I had a wonderful time trying out our "record" Spanish. We found the Mexican storeowners and hotel attendants most anxious to help us learn. And, oddly enough, when we left we could hold a fairly decent conversation—even if ungrammatical.

However, our kids have a standing joke: If Eleanor and Herman didn't want the Mexicans to understand when they talked to each other, they would speak in Spanish—and no one would understand them.

Adios, amigos.

Meet Mrs. F. R. Rousseau....

With Pen In Hand She Serves Valley Art Center

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Settling in their long, low ranch home at 4132 Los Arabis Road, Lafayette, kept Mrs. F. R. Rousseau extremely busy the past year, more so as new home owners, as the Rousseaus had just returned from several years in South America.

Julie Rousseau was not too busy, however, to pitch in and work for the Valley Art Center as their publicity chairman. "I have always been interested in art," she said, "and when a neighbor invited me to attend a meeting I accepted and have been very happy that I did.

"AS AN English major and formr radio copy writer in Hawaii, I had some experience in writing, enjoy doing it, and this seemed to be the best way in which I could serve the center," she continued.

"However, there are many ways in which volunteers can help, particularly with the exhibits when we needs lots of help in gathering the paintings and arranging them. Interested women can call Mrs. Parker Stack of the board, or any of the board members to indicate their interest in helping the center.

"This year," Mrs. Roussau added, "the membership became invitational and I do not know just when more members will be accepted, but we are always glad to hear from those interested in helping."

PENCIL and paper just naturally seem to accompany Mrs. Rousseau and she also serves as secretary to the Happy Valley Improvement Association. "I was going to be PTA secretary for the Vallecito School this year, too," she said, "but now that I am going to be doing graduate work at the University of California in Berkeley, there just won't be time."

Eventually Mrs. Rousseau believes she would like to be a teacher at the junior college level and is working for her master's degree. Calling this endeavor her "Big Project" for this year, she will be spending her mornings at the university.

The Rousseaus have two children, Randy who is 11 and Denise who is seven. Both are students at Vallecito School. Randy was born in Hawaii and Denise arrived in Brazil.

RANDY ATTENDED American schools in the foreign countries, but did learn to write and speak Spanish and Portuguese. He was busy this summer taking a language refresher course for his mother said of his languages, "Alas, it is just tragic! A year ago he could speak the languages fluently and now he has almost completely forgotten.

Not forgotten, however, are the children's experiences in different countries, particularly Randy's Cub Scout days in Argentina, when his mother served as Den mother.

Speaking of her own experiences abroad, Mrs. Rousseau remarked, "We just loved it. We were living in foreign countries because we wanted to, not because business transfers forced us, and we really enjoyed it.

WE CAME back to the United States last year because we wanted to give the children American life and the real feeling of being Americans. We feel it is most important that they learn to be good citizens and truly understand how wonderful it is to be an American," she concluded.

Souvenirs of their travel decorate the Rousseau's home, where they enjoy entertaining their friends and pursuing leisure time pleasures. "We like to cook out doors, watch television, swim together, and really enjoy just being at home," she commented.

"I like to cook for special occasions, and I like to sew, but when it comes to most household tasks you might say I just 'cope,'" she laughed.

A cat named Foggy, "because his long grey hair looks like fog," and four gold fish complete the Rosseau household.

HELPING mother arrange paintings at home, or for exhibits of the Valley Art Center, is fun for Denise and Randy Rousseau who share their mother's interest in art. Mrs. F. R. Rousseau of Los Arabis Road, Lafayette serves as publicity chairman for the Valley Art Center.

Mrs. Melvin Carbone Is Hospital Queen Contestant

"Orchids for My Lady" is an appropriate toast for Peggy Carbone of Orinda, whose favorite hobby is arranging orchid exhibits with her husband, Melvin Carbone, for fairs and garden shows.

Mrs. Carbone, a pretty blonde with sparkling blue eyes, is a candidate for the coveted title, "Queen of Children's Hospital of the East Bay."

A charter member of Acorn Branch of Children's Hospital, of which she is now an associate member, she is supported by six branches for the all-out vote gaining campaign.

Joining forces are Acorn, Bayberry, Chinquapin, Elm, Hemlock and Live Oak branches, reflecting a new concept of the queen contest which allows a number of branches to support one candidate.

The aura of magnificence and splendor of a queen's court will surround the festive voting party to be held Saturday, October 22, for the coronation of "her majesty." The new "Queen of Children's Hospital" will reign for a full year, rather than for just one night, and will represent the hospital at several general events.

Arranging orchids is just one of Mrs. Carbone's talents. A professional model before her marriage, she is interested in ballet and modern dancing.

Mrs. Carbone is an alumna of the College of Holy Names, a member of the Mothers of Twins Club, and has five daughters.

Votes may be secured at ten cents each from members of the sponsoring branches or from the office of the branches, 731 62nd Street, Oakland.

Proceeds from the contest will benefit Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

Heather Branch Dates Round Up, Fashion Show

Following a custom which has become traditional among the late summer parties, members and friends of Heather Branch, Children's Hospital of the East Bay, will gather for their annual Fall Round-Up and Fashion Show on September 14 at the R. W. Breuner home on Miner Road in Lafayette.

The oak-shaded patio and lawn between the house and the swimming pool will form a lovely natural setting for the afternoon event. Guests will be arriving at 12:30 and will be seated at tables covered with gay red cloths and adorned with crisp daisy bouquets.

The luncheon menu, also in keeping with the Western theme, will feature a main course of home-cooked fried chicken served in attractive baskets and accompanied by old fashioned biscuits.

Mrs. Leroy Blomgren and Mrs. Robert L. Nielson, assisted by Mrs. Emerson Hayden, all of Berkeley, are in charge of general arrangements for the affair. All Heather members are assisting in committee work.

The day's eagerly awaited showing of new fashions, to include this year for the first time several custom designs created by Martineau Modiste Shop in Orinda, is being co-ordinated by Mrs. William Seifert Jr., assisted by Mrs. John Manners Jr., both of Orinda. The event will be commentated by Mrs. James MacDonald of Orinda. The distinctive originality of fashions from Margaret Joseph, exclusive Orinda women's shop, will also highlight the show and a special segment of the program devoted to back-to-school togs for the younger set has been planned.

Modeling the made-to-measure designs (Note: these dresses are custom made) will be Mesdames Harold Havre, Richard Stampley of Orinda and Lois Bacon and Robert Goodale of Lafayette. Also modeling are Mesdames Philip Muscheid, Calvin Hagstrom, Donald Wells and William Robinson, all of Orinda.

The wonderful lineup of back-to-school clothes, selected from the Heaven to Eleven Shop in Orinda, will be modeled by children of the Heather Branch members.

Among the group are Tracey Flinn, Engel Ford, Ruth Cummings, Dana Seifert and Talley Smith of Orinda; Mary Beth Johnston and Teddy McCauley Lafayette, Martha Meckel and Ann Roeth of Piedmont, and Paul Pande of Oakland.

Mrs. William E. Gordon of Walnut Creek is designing the colorful fashion show programs. Mrs. Robert B. Meckel of Piedmont is in charge of publicity.

Tickets are available from the general chairmen, Mrs. Blomgren at TH 1-0151 or Mrs. Nielson at LA 5-5765.

Orinda Women's Club To Present 'Dear Abby'

The Orinda Woman's Club will present Abigail Van Buren, nationally known Bay area advice columnist, on November 2 at the Rheem Theater, announces Mrs. Stephen Stewart, chairman of the event.

Miss Van Buren's "Dear Abby" column now appears in more than 500 newspapers in the U. S., Canada, Australia and Germany, and her books, "Dear Abby" and "Dear Teenager" became best sellers overnight.

George Parihams Are Cruising

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Parnham of 129 Lombardy Lane, Orinda, sailed from New Orleans recently for Port of Spain, Trinidad, B.W.I.

The Parnhams will debark in Trinidad to take a jungle cruise and will also visit Surinam in the Dutch West Indies. They will spend two days sight-seeing in New Orleans on their return.

Mr. Parnham is an executive of Sears, Roebuck and Company in California.

Scottish Garb Will Highlight Fling

"A Midsummer Night's Fling," with guests in gay Scottish garb and entertainment in the Highlands mood, will carry out the theme chosen by membes of Sycamore Branch, Children's Hospital of the East Bay, for their Saturday supper and pool party at the Lafayette home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haldeman.

All visiting lads and lassies will be greeted at arrival time, 6:30 p.m., by the fabled monster of Loch Ness, a giant sea serpent famous in legend throughout Scotland. Those in attendance will come resplendent in authentic tartans especially chosen for the occasion.

The men will wear colorful kilts and jackets with traditional Scottish accessories such as Glengary caps, heavy plaid stoles and unusual "sporram" purses of horsehair and fur. Bonnie lassies will trip the light fantastic in plaid skirts and blouses topped off with the traditional "arasaid" shoulder sashes and Balmoral tams.

The Haldemans' lovely Reliez Valley home and gardens will lend just the proper enchantment to the Scottish motif. Decorating is being done by Mrs. John J. Wohlrab of Oakland, while Mrs. Robert P. Lee, also of Oakland, overall chairman of the "Fling," has promised an outstanding surprise entertainment attraction from San Francisco that will thoroughly complete the evening mood.

Mary C. Larsen Married In Candlelight Ceremony

Sprays of white gladioli and pink roses decorated Providence Baptist Church for the wedding of Mary Catherine Larsen to Calvin Steele on August 12.

Reverend Ross Harmonson performed the candlelight ceremony at which the bride was given in marriage by her father, Leonard Boswell.

For the informal wedding, beautiful in its simplicity, the bride wore a navy blue suit with matching hat and purse, with white gloves. She carried a French bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Sharon Wood was the matron of honor, gowned in a light blue dress with matching accessories. She carried a smaller duplicate of the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Boswell chose a black dress with pale yellow accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was a yellow orchid. The bride's sister, Sandra, was gowned in a beige dress and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Steele of Adair, Alabama. He was attended by Robert Johnson.

The newlyweds will be in the state of Washington while the benedict completes his service with the United States Navy.

On completion of naval service, the couple will reside in Adair, Alabama, where he will enter business.

A reception following the marriage ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1441 Lesnick Lane, Walnut Creek.

MARRIED recently at First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley, Dr. and Mrs. R. K. Freeman are now at a training conference in New York preparing for a medical missionary assignment in the French Cameroons. The bride is the former Christine Inman-Kane of Lafayette and a former teacher at Fairview School.

Area Gridders Play in Benefit Game

Dathe and Hair Will See Action In 20-30 Contest

Two central county guards are members of the East Bay All-Star squad which will face a strong West Bay team tomorrow in the sixth annual Prep All-Star contest sponsored by Bay Area 20-30 Clubs.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m. tomorrow at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco. Pre-game activities for the benefit game will begin at 1 p.m.

THE TWO local players are Walt Dathe of Pleasant Hill High School and Mike Hair of Las Lomas High School. In addition, one of the coaches, Frank LaSan of Pacifica, and eight players on the East team are from Contra Costa Division high schools.

The other county players are end Dave Dougan of Clayton Valley; tackle John Arciniega, quarterback Steve Craffey of Pittsburg; guard Luane Morris and halfback Eddie Johnson of Mt. Diablo; and center Bruce Franz of Antioch.

Members of the East squad this year will be out to avenge four consecutive defeats at the hands of the West Bay teams. The East has scored only six points in the last four years after defeating the West, 19-6, in the 1955 series inaugural.

The 27-man East squad has been practicing at the Diablo Valley College field since August 8.

THE ANNUAL game is jointly sponsored by the seven 20-30 clubs in the Bay Area. These are Diablo Valley, Oakland, San Francisco, Hawyard, Richmond, San Carlos and San Leandro-San Lorenzo.

For the second time this year, each of the sponsoring clubs has selected its own special youth charity to share in the profits. The Diablo Valley club has selected the Contra Costa Cerebral Palsy Society.

Dathe, who stands 6-3 and weighs 215 pounds, was named to the squad to replace Jay Opperman of Castro Valley, who injured his knee. He was named to the Contra Costa Division all-star team when he was a junior in 1958, but was injured most of last year.

HAIR, 6-1 and 193 pounds, has played guard, fullback, tackle and end for the Knights. He was selected as the school's most valuable player last year and made the Foothill Division all-star team as a guard in 1958 and as a fullback last year.

Two members of the Diablo Valley club are directors of this year's contest. They are Bill Comerford and Jerry Mullin, who was last year's game president.

Lafayette Man Wins First Place In Cotati Races

Gordon Mills of Lafayette, driving a Porsche Super sports car, roared to a first place in class Sunday in the small production race at Cotati Raceway near Santa Rosa.

Mills, who came in second during the preliminary races on Saturday, finished only 10 seonds ahead of the second place car, another Porsche.

Mills averaged close to 70 miles an hour for the 45-minute event, which covered 52 miles on a tricky asphalt course.

Mills is expected to enter the crippled children's benefit races next month at Cotati.

Rheem Bowl Has League Openings

There still are openings in most of the leagues at the new million-dollar Rheem Bowl in Rheem Center, according to Manager John Pearson.

The bowling establishment, with 24 lanes of AMF equipment, will open to the public August 27. A grand opening is scheduled for later in the fall, Pearson said.

The manager reported that play in all leagues will begin the week of September 12. He said leagues will meet Monday through Friday at 6:30 and 9 p.m. The only filled league time is Wednesday at 6:30 p.m., he added.

An added attraction of the Rheem Bowl, Pearson stated, will be the Homemakers' League, which will meet every weekday morning.

Interested persons may sign up at the bowl, Pearson said.

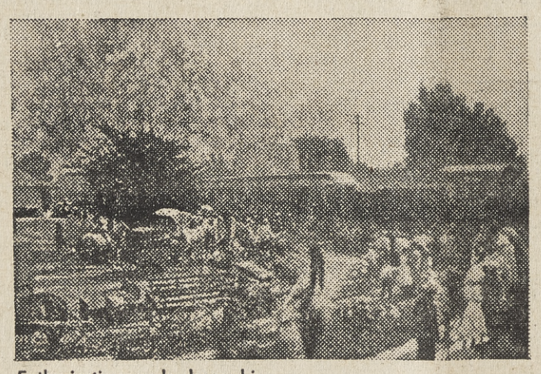
OPEN EVENINGS

ON AUGUST 22, 1910...

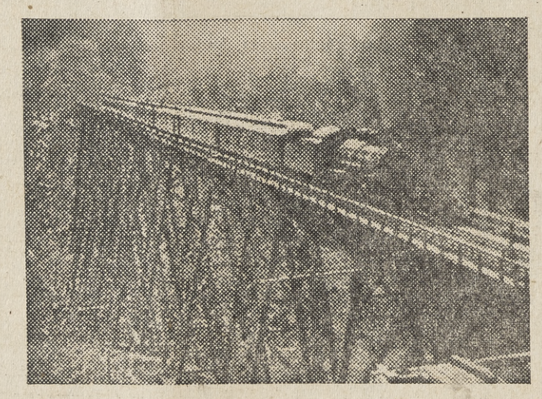
"...through canyons to the waters of the West, the Western Pacific led its iron stallions down to drink"



Enthusiastic crowds, dressed in their Sunday best, lined the station platform in Sacramento to hail the arrival of the train. (Even the one-car family was a rarity in 1910!)

Thus in the flowery language of 1910 did the San Francisco Morning Call describe the triumphant arrival of Western Pacific's first passenger train from Salt Lake City to Oakland. All along the line...in the desert vastness of Nevada, in mountain towns through Feather River Canyon, in the lush farmlands of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys... families came from miles around to welcome their first passenger train. They arrived in buggies and farm wagons, on horseback and on foot, by trolley car, and, in the case of the more affluent, behind the wheel of a dusty Locomobile. Bands played, salutes were fired, flags waved, flowers were tossed and dignitaries orated. It was a great day for the West...a great day for Western Pacific.

Much has changed since this memorable day of August 22, 1910. Now our passengers ride aboard a sleek, stainless-steel streamliner. And they can ride upstairs in a Vista-Dome. But the scenery is as overwhelmingly beautiful as it was in 1910. And you can have even more fun, and be a lot more comfortable, aboard today's California Zephyr!



A study in contrasts! The steam-powered inaugural train proudly poses for newspaper photographers on Clio Viaduct in the wilds of Feather River Canyon. Many years later, Western Pacific's California Zephyr, "the most talked-about train in the country," is photographed on the same viaduct as it speeds East to Salt Lake City, Denver and Chicago.

Popsicles Never Go Out of Style

A small touch, but important to youngsters, will be the free popsicles offered during the Broadway Back-to-School Fashion Show in front of Lucky Store, tomorrow and also offered free to everyone from Monday to Saturday, August 22-27.

The Fur Look Is Fine for Outerwear

Fur and the fur look take a prominent—and dressy—place in the outerwear picture for grade school girls.

Continuing favorites such as boy coats and car coats show this influence.

The basic boy coat is dressed up with braid and lined with fake fur.

Car coats and their matching hoods also have pile linings, while snow suits have fur-edged hoods and pile jackets.

PAY ATTENTION, Lynn! Oh, well, it's her first day in school, and so well dressed, too. But naughty! Lynn Ciullo, a Walnut Creek five-year-old, will caper with 11 others at the Broadway Back-to-School Fashion Show, tomorrow afternoon in front of Lucky Store. She and other boys and girls are students of Athena's Dance Studio. —Photo by Harry Maroulas.

Its' 'Back To School' Time

Time for Fun, Fashions In Outdoor Classroom!

The class will be called to order, tomorrow, in front of the Lucky Store, Broadway Shopping Center. And the teacher will have as talented a group, entertainment and fashion-wise, as ever assembled in a Walnut Creek schoolroom.

Dramatizing Broadway's "Back-to-School" special event, 12 elementary boys and girls will frolic at 2:30 p.m. in Broadway's 1960 school fashions.

And when class is dismissed, wait! Twelve high school students will take over. A little first-day foolishness will be allowed, we hope!

Mrs. Elsa Niemann, fashion show coordinator, said, "We plan to have all the trappings, including a school bell. Each student, a member of Athena's Dance Studio, will do a short routine, as they call it, and we can expect some comedy and mischief.

Free popsicles will be distributed. The clothes? — Broadway merchants have chosen them carefully!

Step in The Right Direction

The mother who earns her "A" in family foot health knows that foot care for her youngsters begins in the shot shop.

Follow these simple rules when buying shoes for the new school term:

First, shop early—so you and they will have the patience to get properly fitted shoes.

INSPECT new shoes for construction and material. Shoes that are leather top and bottom are recommended because they conform to the natural shape of the foot at rest or at play.

When in doubt about fit of a shoe, rely on the salesman—not on the youngster's word.

If junior thinks a shoe will make him look more grown-up chances are he will tell you it "feels great" even if it pinches.

WARDROBE winners include cotton plaid separates, such as this tailored shirt and full skirt. By MacShore Classics in William Anderson fabric.

SOFT, dressmaker look in sweaters is illustrated by this style, with neckline that's bow - and - rippled - ruffle adorned. It's a "Ban-Lon" sweater.

Dancing in The Street For Teens

Dancing in the street and in front of the Lucky Store will be featured, August 26, from 8 to 10 p.m. It's Broadway's Teen-age record hop, featuring disk jockey Ted Randal.

It's part of a special "Broadway-Goes-Back-to-School" event.

Randal will make with the chatter which has gained him so many fans in the Bay Area as KEWB's top disk jockey.

And he will be giving away free records.

Cokes, orangeade and doughnuts will be served. Chaperones will be present.

And there will be the drawing for a portable TV, two hi-fi record players and six transistor radios.

Randal himself is expected to draw a large crowd of fans.

Say Randal's KEWB bosses: "Ted's uncanny knack for picking hit records is no great mystery. His ability is the result of 12 years of commercial radio experience, during which his chief concern has been music."

"Randal has been disk jockey, announcer, sportscaster, program director, writer and producer.

"He has constantly had San Francisco's top-rated popular music show on both radio and television."

Ted can be heard on KEWB Monday through Fridays, 9 to 12, and Sundays, 8 to 1.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias set a new world record of 11.7 seconds for the 80-meter hurdles in the 1932 Los Angeles Olympic Games. Local golfers honor her memory this week in the American Cancer Society's annual Babe Didrikson Zaharias Memorial Golf Tournament.

SWEET and svelte is Leanna Hanson, Pleasant Hill high student, who with other boys and girls her age will perform in Broadway's "Back-to-School" Fashion Show, tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in front of Lucky Store. Apparel, accessories and shoes from Joseph Magnin, Walnut Creek. — Photo by Harry Maroulas.

Fashions! A Dance! Free Items in Broadway Event!

It's nearing that "breathless" time of the year, when it's back-to-school for the boys and girls, back-to-the-home for the adults! And it is being ushered in by the Broadway Shopping Center, starting tomorrow!

"Broadway Goes Back to School" is a special event running through August 27, announcing Broadway's complete stock conversion to school fashions and fall home merchandise.

It will be lively and well worth seeing. Here is the schedule:

1. BROADWAY'S Back-to-School Fashion Show for students of all ages, tomorrow, August 20 in front of Lucky Store.

Mrs. Elsa Niemann of Joseph Magnin's and her committee have planned a school room fashion show and entertainment enacted by elementary level boys and girls, and it is expected that this will be a trying day for the teacher! A high school fashion show will follow.

2. Perhaps one of the most exciting events in recent Walnut Creek history—a Broadway Teen-Age Record Hop featuring well-known KEWB disc jockey Ted Randall, Friday, August 26.

Coke, Doughnuts and orangeade will be served. Many records will be given away. The dance will be chaperoned, and will last two hours, from 8 to 10 p.m.

3. FREE! AN RCA portable television. Free! Two stereo HiFi record players (Webcor) Free! Six transistor radios. Tickets may be obtained in Broadway Stores, without any purchases, and are dropped into containers from which the winners are drawn.

Children must be accompanied by parents while filling out the tickets. The drawings will be held at the dance.

4. Every day, next Monday through Saturday, free popsicles will be given away to the kids.

This is what Broadway has planned for your family. Why not take advantage?

Magnin Employees Get Fashion Data

The 30 employees of Joseph Magnin's Walnut Creek store traveled to San Francisco last night for the company's third annual employee's fashion show, held at The Village.

Employees from all of the Joseph Magnin stores gathered at the event to obtain latest information on the fall fashion picture, according to Elsa Niemann, manager of the Walnut Creek store.

Mrs. Niemann reported that the company show, the theme of which was "Fashion Quotations," enables employees to use the latest possible fashion information in their dealings with Magnin customers.

Its' 'Back To School' Time

That Lunch Is Important To Young Scholars!

New ear's bells ring twice for American families with youngsters—once to welcome the new calendar year and once to announce the opening of a new school year.

Lucky the children whose mothers resolve to start this school year with a clean slate in the lunch department.

Children need a good lunch every day. That means they need a lunch that rates an A on:

1. EYE APPEAL. Lunches that look good are more likely to taste good. An attractive container, gay napkin add interest.

2. Appetite Appeal. There's nothing exciting about the same lunch day after day. Use a little imagination.

3. Nutritional Value. The noon meal should provide one-third of a child's nutritional needs. This can be accomplished by a hearty sandwich, a fresh fruit or vegetable or both, milk or soup made with milk, and a toothsome sweet.

Here are some nutritious lunches slated to earn Good Lunch Awards from youngsters.

1. Cream of pea soup, peanut butter-raisin bread sandwiches, celery stuffed with pimiento cheese, pineapple tapioca.

Make the soup with milk. Add a cookie or piece of candy.

2. COLD chicken leg, cranberry sauce, whole wheat bread sandwiches, dill pickle, fresh orange wedges, sugar cookies, milk.

Cut the unpeeled orange into sections for easy eating.

3. Tuna salad-enriched white bread sandwich, small whole tomato or raw cauliflowerettes, chocolate mint pudding, milk.

Add chopped walnuts to the tuna salad sandwich filling.

4. TOMATO rice soup, deviled ham and egg salad on rye, cucumber and carrot sticks, fresh pear, oatmeal cookies, chocolate milk.

Be sure the soup is piping hot when put in vacuum bottle. Remember the spoon.

5. Cold meat loaf and relish on bun, Waldorf salad with chopped a bun, Waldorf salad with chopped dates, inside-out cupcakes, box of raisins, milk.

PLAIDS aplenty make the fashion news in sport shirts for fall. This button-down model has the rich Madras look in a blend of Eastman Kodel polyester and cotton.

Boy Scout Councils Meet

More than a hundred representatives of Boy Scout Councils all over the United States met at the Shattuck Hotel recently to hear talks by Charles Griffin, national member of the Rural Scouting Service of the Boy Scouts of America, and Raymond W. Miller, vice chairman of the National Committee on Rural Scouting.

The gathering was one of several which took place as more than 3000 youth and adult representatives from across the nation participated in a conference of the American Institute of Cooperation on the campus of the University of California.

About one million rural boys are in Boy Scout troops and Explorer Posts sponsored by affiliates of the A.I.C. throughout the country.

Mt. Diablo Council was represented at the luncheon by Duncan H. Knudsen, president.

Precise Planning Is Must For Would-be Gardener

It should be the first job of any would-be gardener to develop an over-all plan for his garden.

Whether he uses his own creative genius for this, calls in an expert, or picks his plan out of a home and garden magazine, makes no difference. The important thing is to have the plan.

ONCE HE HAS accepted this fact of garden life, the homeowner has half the battle won. If he is starting from scratch, he may proceed at once. If he is starting with an already established garden, he must first consider the often painful possibility that he will have to uproot shrubbery in wholesale fashion to achieve his ultimate idea of the perfect garden.

Whether starting from scratch or from the results of someone else's mis-planting, you will want to make what use of established trees and shrubs you can.

A grown tree—especially a slow growing specimen such as oak—is an asset that should be preserved, even at the cost of somewhat altering your plan to accommodate it.

PUT YOUR plan on paper. This is a must. In your drawing, locate the house and existing trees on the lot, then rough in your garden needs. Start with the front approach and give emphasis to the ease with which traffic flows into the house and around it to the back yard.

Then consider a service area—a place that can be closed off from the rest of the garden to hide the clutter of garbage cans, clotheslines, tools, etc. This should preferably be as close to the back entrance as possible.

Finally, consider your outdoor living area and its access to the house. Don't skimp here. We'd a whole lot rather see an over-size living area in an under-size garden than vice-versa.

Once you are this far, the rest is easy. Just take your plan to the local California Association of Nurserymen member and let him help you map out the planting areas and plan what material should go in them. Unless you are an old hand at the game.

Now that summer is here, you may find that you could use another shade tree for greater comfort in the garden. Mulberry is fine for rapid growth in producing nice shade. Its rich, shiny leaves (with no messy fruit) offer a welcome respite from the sun. One of the dressy, unusual eucalyptus, such as the dollar-leaf variety is also an excellent shade-producer. Check a C.A.N. nursery for these and many other shade trees which will spread their boughs to make your summertime outdoor living more enjoyable.

New Technique Tried for Testing Young Eyesight

MCT, which stands for "Modified Clinical Techniue" and can mean the difference between good eye sight and poor in the classroom, has proved far more accurate in screening school children's vision than previous methods, the Contra Costa County Board of Education learned recently.

From the final report on the testing of the vision of 12,846 children during 1959-60, members of the board discovered that the vision screening was 98 per cent accurate, as compared with approximately 30 per cent accuracy of older tests.

"This high degree of accuracy justifies the nation-wide interest which has begun to focus on MCT," commented County Superintendent of Schools Floyd Marchus.

THE TEST is being used experimentally this year in Sacramento and other counties of California.

MCT is not only more dependable, in the opinion of school and health officials, but also frees the teacher from the task of vision screening. MCT is administered by opthalmologists and optometrists employed by the schools on a part-time basis.
